Dear Department of Justice,

I applaud the DOJ for finally settling the suit with Microsoft. It is good that the federal government is moving forward to items of far greater importance and not wasting any more taxpayer dollars on an issue it shouldn't have even looked at in the first place. In my humble opinion, this suit did nothing to benefit consumers; it was filed purely at the behest of companies who failed in the marketplace because of their own ineptitude, and the fire was fanned by a bunch of ambulance-chasing lawyers whose egos and arrogance far supersede any other interest.
